

Do solar panels
make sense for your home?

AVISTA[®]

Use our online solar estimator.

Producing your own renewable energy not only helps the environment, it could potentially save you money. But how can you know if the upfront cost to install solar panels makes sense for your home or business?

Find out using Avista's online solar estimator.

In just five simple steps, our solar estimator will tell you everything you need to know about solar energy specific to your situation. It will even compare your current average monthly electric bill to any potential cost savings, so you can see whether or not your investment will pay off.

Try our free solar estimator today at avistautilities.com/solarestimator.

Avista can help
you research
installing solar energy at
your home
or business.

